PETER EDRINGTON sits on the curb watching the PTA parade. He is the son of Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Frank Edrington.

THE CARMEL PTA CARNIVAL Saturday was called a complete success both by the sponsors and those attending, despite the first light rainfall of the season. At right, photographed during the parade were (1) the lead vehicle, a fire engine loaded with boys and girls; (2) a group of riders on decorated bikes; (3) young mothers and their charges. At the Carnival (4) lots of children bought balloons, (5) had them filled with an air machine, and (6) went on to the pop-a-balloon to see what damage they could do with darts on other balloons. Merchants Plan Dollar Day Sale for Benefit of Carmel Youth Center

Plans are underway for the participation of Carmel merchants in a Dollar Day sale, Saturday, October 7, for the benefit of the Carmel Youth Center.

Dollar Day items will be offered to the public on tables placed on the sidewalk in front of the participating shops. The articles will be sold for a dollar each or a dollar for two or more. The sales force will consist of Carmel High School students, who will offer their services free.

Merchants are now being contacted by a Dollar Day committee, headed by Oscar Balzer, and the cooperation of all stores and shops dealing in articles suitable for the Dollar Day sale is being requested. Merchants taking part in the sale will contribute to the Youth Center as great a percentage of their sales as possible.

"Every effort is being made to see that real bargains are offered on Dollar Day," says Balzer. "This is an opportunity for everyone--merchants and the public alike--to help in the good work that is being done for the young people of this community."

Anyone desiring information on the sale is requested to contact Balzer at Balzer's Department Store (telephone 7-3836).

...We like your paper very much and all your scenic pictures are beautiful--keep the good work up!

With best wishes,
Yours truly,

Lecture on "Psychology and the Religious Attitude"

Next Monday evening, September 25, starting at 7:30 in Room 3 of the Business Education Building at the Monterey Peninsula College, Dr. Mary C. van Tuyl will begin a short series of lectures and discussions on a subject, "Psychology and the Religious Attitude," which deals with the basic values of our civilization.

The ordinary citizen is daily being faced with decisions which lead him toward moral conduct or toward materialism. If he grows to cherish more and more the advantages of our material prosperity, he would become an easy convert to communistic philosophy should he suffer a sudden reversal in his economic condition. It is for this reason that the College is offering at this time a short course dealing with a reconsideration of moral values, a reconstruction of life's enterprise, a change in desire and in the ends of conduct.

Religious doctrines, the idea of immortality, the nature of God, and similar questions will not be dealt with in the course. Instead the effect of religious life upon group living, and the value to society of the religious attitude will be treated. School teachers, religious leaders, and workers in character-building organizations are especially invited to participate in this course.

CARMEL'S OWN "SILVER MINE"

The Carmel Work Center has discovered a new "silver mine" in the person of Bernard Peterson. Mr. Peterson has designed and made beautiful silverware for many years for one of San Francisco's leading stores and has just recently joined the group of noted craftsmen working with the Carmel Work Center.

Especially for the Peninsula

Mr. Peterson has created three patterns in flat silverware especially for the Peninsula... The Carmel, The Monterey and The Pebble Beach patterns. At present he is making sets of Baby Forks and Spoons, Berry Spoons, Meat Forks and Pickle Forks. You can buy all of these beautiful silver pieces in any of the three patterns. They are particularly good pieces for that extra-special gift.

On Display at the Two Shops

You can see Mr. Peterson's silver on display at any time at the Carmel Work Center in the Seven Arts Court or at the DelMonte Shop. Mr. Peterson has set up his work shop in the Carmel Work Center Mail Order Building at Fourth and Mission.

If you haven't seen this lovely silverware we suggest that you stop in immediately. The Center is always happy to have you visit.

Mobile Blood Unit Will Return to Monterey

The mobile blood bank unit of the American Red Cross will be in Monterey again next Thursday, September 28, to collect donations of whole blood for shipment to the Korean war zone as well as for maintenance of the health and safety of civilians at home.

In August, 26 pints of blood from local donors were flown to Korea. This month an even greater quantity is needed.

Any blood not sent to the front within 21 days after collection by the blood bank is processed into plasma, serum albumen and other forms, and is good for an indefinite period. Nothing contributed is wasted.

In recent months Fort Ord has joined the blood program and has been a source of hundreds of pints, both for civilian and military use. Young recruits on the verge of being shipped overseas have been more than willing to make donations. They know the value of having sufficient whole blood available, and in ample quantity, when it is needed.

The Red Cross is now making an appeal to all civilians to give a pint of blood next Thursday to help save American lives. Appointments may be made through the Carmel Chapter (telephone 7-6921).

Ed Whitaker Directs Fall Real Estate Seminar

A course in the principles of real estate transactions is being offered again this fall under the auspices of the Pacific Grove Adult School. Edward Whitaker, local realtor, is directing it.

The course was originated in 1948 in response to numerous requests from Peninsula residents. Content of the course was worked out by the Peninsula Realtors' Association.

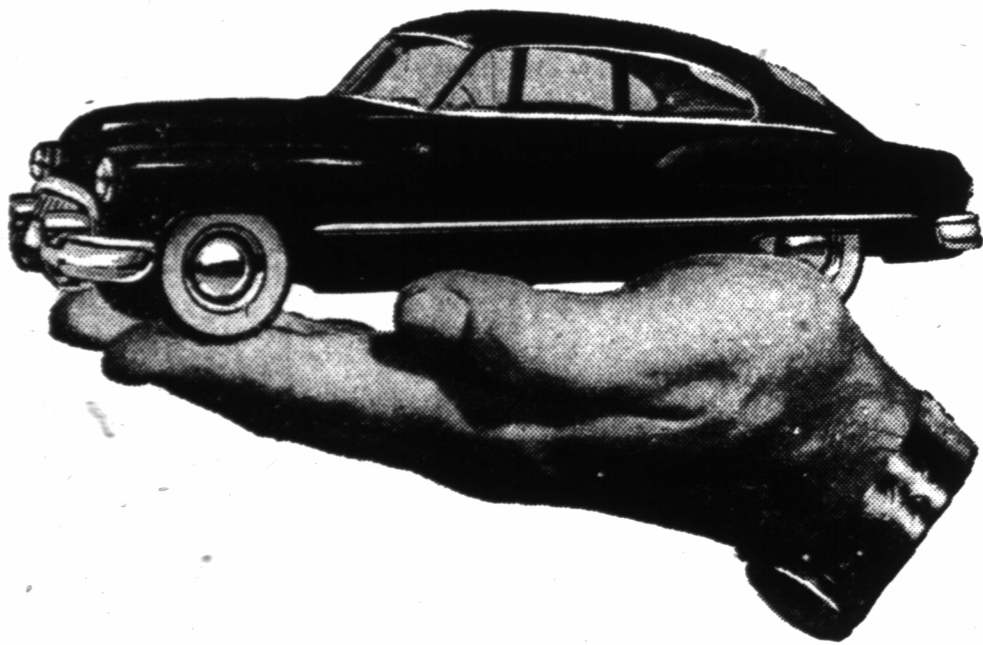

Mr. Whitaker feels that the availability of a textbook this year will add greatly to the value of the course, which will be given in a series of 13 weekly meetings in Room "A" of the Pacific Grove High School. The first meeting was held Wednesday.

Lessons will be given on such aspects of real estate transactions as real and personal property, contract law, conveyances, incumbrances, land measurement and legal description, homestead rights, escrows, and landlord and tenant relationships.

Free Art Instruction At M P C

The well-known water-colorist and member of the Carmel Art Association, Edmund Dempsey, has been engaged by the Dean of the Evening Division of the Monterey Peninsula College to conduct two classes in drawing and water painting. Mr. Dempsey was trained in England, followed his art in Australia and New Zealand, and after his arrival in America had contracts for art work for the motion picture industry and at other times was a consultant and a free lance artist.

Mr. Dempsey will instruct in line, mass, value, texture, form and space in design and creative composition. He will place emphasis on providing the stimulus of sound basic knowledge in the fundamentals of the painters' craft, to enable the adult to acquire a practical approach to the solution of his art problems. Choice of suitable subject matter, its interpretation and simplification through increased powers of observation, and an understanding of the characteristics and use of color in painting will be featured. As the work progresses there will be opportunity for study of the works of the acknowledged masters.

The evening meetings of the class will be from 7:30 to 9:30 every Tuesday and Thursday evening in Room 2 of the Art Building on the Monterey College campus. An afternoon section of the class meets from 1:30 to 4:30 on Monday and Saturday to give opportunity to gain skill in landscape painting. This day group uses Room 4 of the Art Building for headquarters, and goes from there to the day's painting location when the weather is unfit for such trips the group meets inside or takes an excursion to exhibits or art galleries.

Interested persons may enroll any time and may attend when they can. Instruction is free.

Highland Fling Room Features Don Bernard

Don Bernard, who can play on the Hammond organ more than 9,000 numbers from memory, is now being featured in the Highland Fling

Room at the Highlands Inn.

A veteran of major vaudeville circuits, Bernard came to the Peninsula recently from Marysville, where for three years he had a flying school for sail plane pilots and where his music was broadcast over Station KMYC. At one time he held the West Coast altitude record for sail planes, and he is one of 62 pilots in this country who have been presented the Silver Sea award by the International Aviation Institute in France for meeting certain qualifications in flying sail planes.

In addition to regular musical selections, Bernard presents musical travelogues and guessing sical travelogues and guessing games. A program of his music is being broadcast three nights a week, Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday, from 10 to 10:30 P.M.

CARMEL YOUTH CENTER OPENS

I wish I were in the age bracket to be called a "Youth." I know I'd enjoy the privilege of using the facilities now open to the youth of Carmel in the new building on 4th and Junipero. The Carmel Youth Center opened officially this week. It has been built with the loving interest and assistance of many people under the inspiration of a Carmel youth of not so many years ago-- Fred Godwin. Whether we Carmelites have contributed work or materials or money or other support, we have made a start toward solving a problem that occupies the minds of thinking people in the United States today--the youth problem.

Now it is up to us to continue the good work we have started. We can do so by continuing to give the Youth Center our support. Under the able supervision of Jack and Bonnie Giles, co-directors of the Youth Center, there will be many activities in which the public parents of "youth" or not - can take an interest. Let's promise ourselves to do just that--take an active interest in its progress and continue to support our Youth Center in every way possible.

CHARLES LAUGHTON walks on stage with an armload of books-- as he will October 1 when he presents his one-man show at the Pacific Grove High School Auditorium. He will read the works of great authors and selections from the Bible.

Charles Laughton Will be In Pacific Grove October 1

Charles Laughton will appear in a one-man show of readings from great authors and the Bible Sunday night, October 1, in the Pacific Grove High School Auditorium.

A high point in the program will be two Shakesperian pieces-- a rendition of the Chorus in the Prologue of "Henry V" and the comedy scene from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" in which a group of amateurs rehearse a theatrical production. He reads from James Thurber's fables, from Worlfe's prose-poetry description of trains. He brings to life characters from the Bible and reads his favorite Psalm, the 139th, asking that there be no applause. He closes his program with the "Gettysburg Address," which will be particularly moving at this time with the Crusade for Freedom in progress.

Laughton has worked out a new medium of entertainment that stemmed from his desire to help less fortunate individuals. He first began by reading the Bible and other classics to hospitalized servicemen in the Los Angeles area. When the war ended, demands came from all over the country where these men had returned to their homes. His 51 recitals have been sold out wherever he has appeared, and hundreds turned away. The advance sale points to the same response here.

Reserved seats may be secured in Carmel at the Browse Around Music Shop at Dolores and 6th, or from manager Alice Seckels, Box 643, Carmel.

Del Monte Kennel Club Dog Show October 15

The twenty-fifth annual All Breed Dog Show under the auspices of the Del Monte Kennel Club will be held Sunday, October 15, at Pebble Beach.

The management of the club wishes to have as high a percentage of Carmel entries as possible and points out that there are many dog owners nearby who may not have thought of entering their pets because of lack of experience in the show ring. For this reason arrangements are being made to have classes in show handling at Carmel High School sometime before the show.

Entries close Monday, October 2. Blanks may be obtained at Derek Rayne's shop and Jezebel's Dog House or by writing Marion Kingland, secretary, Box 1316, Carmel.

Driving Near Schools

In an appeal for cooperation with school safety patrols, the California State Automobile Association has pointed out that careful driving in school zones, essential at all times, is particularly important during the opening weeks of the term when many small children, unaccustomed to traffic hazards, are attending classes for the first time.

A REPLICA OF THE LIBERTY BELL, symbol of The Crusade for Freedom, was in Carmel Wednesday afternoon. Replicas of the bell are now touring the country and Americans are being asked to sign scrolls bearing a pledge to aid in every possible way in the world-wide fight for freedom. Many Carmelites and visitors gathered on Ocean Avenue to see the bell, to hear a short patriotic ceremony, and to pledge their help in the struggle against Communism. POLAROID One-Minute Photograph.

Golden Bough Players' "Shadow and Substance" Is Outstanding Show

An outstanding production of a superior play came to the Sunset Auditorium last Friday night. It was "Shadow and Substance," Paul Vincent Carroll's play which won, some years ago, the New York Drama Critics' Circle award for the best play of the year by a foreign author.

"Shadow and Substance" is a significant piece of writing, and it might, even in the worst of productions, become a thing of interest to the audience merely for the sake of its lines alone. The message it carries is important enough, and presented well enough through the words of the characters, that it could hardly escape the attention of any of us. But because of the production given the play by the Golden Bough Players, and especially because of the performances of the two principal actors, Julie McCarthy and Edward Kuster, it became something special.

A story of the Church, the play tells of the conflict in the mind of the Very Reverend Thomas Canon Skerritt (Edward Kuster) when he learns that the servant girl at the parochial house, Brigid (Julie McCarthy), believes she has had visions of her patron saint, Saint Brigid, and expresses her desire to become a nun. Determinedly unsentimental, the Canon does all that he can to prove to her that her visions are only the effect of a religious hysteria. What he does is for her own good, he believes, but at the end of the play he is left in doubt about his actions. The theme is taken from one of Aesop's Fables: "Beware lest you lose the substance by grasping at the shadow,"--and the Canon feels that despite his position in the Church, Brigid may have been the one who was closer to the truth.

At Sunday night's performance, Julie McCarthy was charming as Brigid. She was alternately humorous and serious, but at all times she kept Brigid's actions motivated by a deeply religious quality. She seemed to be living the part, which is what an actor should do, and she probably had a hard time dropping her pleasant Irish accent after the last curtain. Miss McCarthy was perfect for her part.

Edward Kuster played the Canon with a casualness that seemed entirely correct in a man who feels that he is much wiser than those around him, but who wants to help everyone as much as he can as long as all of them agree with him in the end. Whether the Canon is mixing dinner and conversation, sitting at his desk going over papers, or convincing to get his niece off his hands by marrying her to one of the villagers, Kuster had complete control over the character. He could hardly have improved on his performance.

Said Riza was excellent in the shorter role of the schoolmaster who outwardly disagreed with the Canon and what he stood for. Riza's schoolmaster was a fiery person who believed in fighting for what he wanted, but who, like the Canon, was not quite certain that he wanted the right things.

"Shadow and Substance" was not uniformly of such high quality. Some of the minor roles were not as well-acted as they might have been, but they detracted little from the overall effect. Standouts in smaller parts were Gloria Rollin, Judy Campbell and Arthur Balasz, and, in a very short bit, John Walsh, who had only to speak a few lines and grin a little--but he made it seem Irish as...well, Paddy's pig.

Gabrielle Kuster's direction was excellent. She had a fine drama to work with and several fine actors to speak the lines, and, on the whole, she got from her material as good a show as you could want.

Entry Time Extended On Fair's Baby Contest

Entry time on the Monterey County Fair Baby King and Queen contest has been indefinitely extended, for a short while, Mrs. George Fuhrman, chairman, announced this week.

Entry blanks have been published in local newspapers and are available at the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce. The Baby King and Queen elected on the opening day of the Fair, Thursday, September 28, will lead the parade the following morning, commencing at the Presidio in Monterey at 10:30.

Parents unable to obtain entry blanks are requested to write to the Fair office giving the baby's name, address, birth date, name of parents, etc.

Judges named to date include:

Dr. A. R. Blevins, representing the Monterey Peninsula Optimists; Fred Goss and Oscar Balzer, representing the Carmel Lions Club; Archie Hart and Eldon Covell, representing the Monterey Lions Club; James D.

Lowsley and George Baxter, representing the Carmel Kiwanis Club; Mrs. Irene Giacomazzi and Mrs. Henry Warrick of Soledad, representing the Monterey County Home Extension Advisory Council, and Sgt. Cunningham and C. C. Brockman, representing the Seaside Lions Club.

Many prizes have been offered, including photographs from the Del Rey Studios of Seaside and Cook Studios of Salinas, merchandise orders from Randy's of Monterey, Olander's of Pacific Grove, Fremont Hardware and Hiway Market of Seaside, toys from Carmel Kiddie Shop, and slipper socks from Zelma's Baby Shop in Seaside.

Entries for the Baby King and Queen contest are reaching the 100 mark. Judging will be done on the nationally recognized accredited system. Preliminaries will begin at 10:30 a.m., Thursday, September 28, with finals in the afternoon.

Camping Program For Sunset Children

All children in the sixth grade at Sunset School will be given an opportunity to spend a school week next May at Big Sur State Park, living and studying outdoors as part of their regular school curriculum.

The school camping program, similar to those already in effect in several states, will include science, conservation, health and safety, citizenship, music and other subjects.

James Blee, sixth grade teacher, will be the director. He has had experience as a ranger-naturalist in Big Sur State Park and Sequoia National Park, and has been a counselor in both private and YMCA camps.

The committee in charge of the program consists of Stuart Mitchell, superintendent of Carmel schools, Arthur Hall, principal of Sunset, Mrs. Glen Minshall, PTA recreation chairman, Mrs. Walter Nielson and Mrs. Edgar Bissantz, sixth grade mothers, and Mrs. F. L. Wallace, arrangements chairman.

Submarine to Visit Monterey

Another of the regular visits of the U.S. Naval vessels to Monterey Bay for the purpose of serving as a floating laboratory for students at the Naval General Line School will occur Saturday, September 23, with the arrival of the USS Ronquil (SS396).

The Ronquil, a standard fleet-type submarine, is under the command of Lt. H. F. Fischer, Jr., USN.

The submarine will remain through Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning, engaging in operations within Monterey Bay for the instruction of General Line School students. Due to her full training schedule, public visiting will not be permitted.

THEY'LL BE AT THE FAIR

Eye Openers on the Peninsula WITH Betsy Abbott

WHEN IS A KNIT NOT A KNIT? When it is a SALTA two-piece dress or suit, exclusive in Carmel with the CINDERELLA SHOP. The fabric in these garments is loomed on a machine and THEN cut and tailored just like a man's suit. It can be worn either as a two-piece dress or as a suit, and the great feature is that it will fit the half-size as well as the long-waisted woman, because the material MOULDS itself to the figure.

These suits range from plain colors to tweeds, stripes, plaids, tweed plaids and iridescent lame.

The color range is vast and the names are glamorous and fitting--such as turtle, sable, balsam, copper, iris, berry, smoke, graphite, cactus, chestnut, roseglow, sand, lemon, tortoise, plum, poppy, pine, sapphire, spruce, oak, and combinations of turtle and copper, pine and gold, plum and violet, black and berry, black and poppy, black and teal, and, of course, the old standbys such as black, brown, and navy blue.

These SALTA sizes are from 10 to 38 inclusive and range in price from $49.95 to $69.95.

To have an exclusive line of this nature is truly wonderful, for in having it Mrs. Dean is more than able to satisfy the color and the figure requirements of the customer.

HAVE YOU EVER HAD BUTTER MELT IN YOUR MOUTH? You can have that and lots more when you eat QUIMPER LACES, a French-type pastry made in Carmel by Andre J. M. Laurent in his little shop with the mock houses inside as part of the decorations. He tells me these look like the houses in Quimper, France. This "old world delicacy for the new world" can be eaten before or after a meal. They are not appetizers--but once you start eating them it is hard to stop. Mr. Laurent will serve you one dozen in a gay little paper cornucopia, so that you can eat as you walk along--or in a can to take home--for $1.50. Telephone 7-4914.

At the COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP at 489 Alvarado Street, Monterey, I ran into quite a surprise. Why? Because of the collection of gabardine suits so softly feminine in styling and yet so practical. These suits come in a variety of styles--some with shawl collars, some with tailored collars and some with little boy and girl collars that can be buttoned right under the chin and don't demand a blouse. There were some in soft pearl grey, and one style had mouse grey trim cleverly done on the pockets to give an interesting detail. There were also some in brown and navy blue, each with its own individuality.

I saw an interesting collection of menswear worsted tweeds in subtle colors and in a variety of styles. And there is a group of suits for the career girl, phenomenally low in price and wrinkle proof. No pressing is needed--just hang up the suit in a humid bathroom while you're bathing and presto! your suit is ready for you to wear to work. Sizes from 8 to 20.

And last but not least, the COLLEGIATE SHOP carries a group of suits for the diminutive in size--from 9 to 17. I noticed a particularly lovely one in a taupe and yellow plaid. It has the new soft, rounded shoulder style that is most comfortable. The detail around the breast pockets, which flow into the shoulder line, is superb.

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN TO PIXIELAND? Little folk have a way of finding cozy and happy spots such as LIAL'S MUSIC SHOP on Ocean Avenue and Monte Verde. Because it is a basement store and the windows are only so high, it sometimes happens that we grown-ups miss it, but the children get a glimpse of what is inside and down the steps they go--perhaps to be caught in the spell of Neverland and the Pirate Ship and the Darlings (who can't afford children but have them anyway)--as heard in the record album Peter Pan. It's adapted from the New York stage hit, with the original stars, Jean Arthur and Boris Karloff. Adults as well as children have surrendered to the charm of the album.

However, LIAL'S isn't all Pixieland. Did you know that it is the exclusive outlet on the Peninsula for MAGNAVOX radio-phonograph combinations? There are models on the floor (for as low as $199.50) which can be brought right out of the store.

LIAL'S has everything imaginable in records--from Bach to Milhaud and Hindemith. The stock includes Cetra-Soria long-playing records, Victor, Columbia and London long-playing classical records, unbreakable Vynlite classical in the conventional 78-RPM speed, 7-inch popular 33 1/3-RPM, all labels in the new 45-RPM, a complete line of accessories from needles to record brushes and cleaners, musical instruments (harmonicas, guitars, etc.) and a self-service rack for miscellaneous popular records.

So try the Peninsula first and go to LIAL'S for any of your music store needs, and at the same time have the fun of being in this cozy walk-down music shop.

The gratifying sales of Silly Putty (New Yorker, August 26 and September 9; Pathfinder September 20; Spectator September 15) indicate a sharp drop in frequency of adult neuroses may be expected in the near future. It might also indicate sales at GADGETS UNLIMITED may decline for the same reason...or do you get what I mean...which is silly considering some of the recent arrivals such as the Blue Magic can (about one gallon size, sold singly) complete with defogging unit for keeping crackers, cookies, potato chips crisp. But, Boy, you should see the C-Wall Red Boy Trans-illumination light and magnet for looking around corners and retrieving spare parts from inaccessible places. Next week, or sometime, read all about the Snackmaster! Happy Hostess, take it easy and serve the bite-size pousse-cafe canape that the men just hate!

Navy Wives In Fashion Show

The Navy Wives Club of the General Line School was treated to a fall fashion preview on Wednesday, September 13, in the Ball Room at the General Line School.

The fashion preview under sponsorship of the wives of Section A-2, included an attractive and enlightening display of sportswear, casual clothes, cocktail dresses and party dresses with appropriate footwear. Harriett Duncan of Carmel acted as commentator for the program. Models included Mrs. Evelyn Park, Mrs. Alice Wheelless, Mrs. Betty Peck, Mrs. Ruby Condor, Mrs. Gaye Edwards and Mrs. Yvonne Kemp, Navy wives. Also modeling were Miss Shirley Clegg, Miss Joanne Nix, Miss Shelia Scovil, and Miss Mimi Townsend.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Mary Montgomery, acting chairman of Section A-2. Assisting her in planning and arranging the luncheon were: Mrs. Jeri Champlin, program chairman; Mrs. Martha Hager, menu chairman, and Mrs. Barbara Hawkins, decorating chairman.

Texas Visitors

Miss Joyce Lewis, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Charles Lewis USA (Ret) of San Antonio, Texas, and Miss Eleanor Langevin are concluding a month's visit with Miss Langevin's parents, Colonel and Mrs. Joseph L. Langevin, Hatton Fields.

It is their first visit to the Monterey Peninsula and they were highly impressed with the scenic splendor of the area. During their stay, they visited many points of interest in the area and spent several days in San Francisco.

Colonel and Mrs. Langevin were hosts to the visitors at several informal dinners held at their home near Carmel.

Misses Lewis and Langevin will depart Thursday by automobile for San Antonio. They plan a leisurely tour of Southern California, which will be highlighted by a visit to Hollywood.

Tuberculosis Unit Here September 28

The Mobile X-Ray Tuberculosis Unit of the Monterey County Tuberculosis Association will be in Carmel next Thursday, September 28. It will be set up in a prominent location from 10 A.M. to 1:30 P.M.

Everyone is urged to visit this unit for free X-rays which will be given under the supervision of the Carmel Parents Nursery School.

The New Valley Road

The Carmel Valley Business and Professional Men's Association hosted a luncheon last Tuesday, at the Robles Del Rio Lodge, to celebrate the opening of the first part of the new Carmel Valley Road. Andy Jacobsen, head of the County Board of Supervisors, announced at the gathering that bids for the construction of the next section of the road, from the entrance to the Valley at the junction of Highway 1 to the Farm Center, were now in the hands of the state, and would soon be put out for bids by contractors.

Cheering news to Valleyites, also, was the announcement that plans were on the agenda of the Board for the rebuilding of the road through to Highway 101 near Gonzales. This will be quite a bit in the future, but the opening of this road all the way through would save much time and be more convenient for all Peninsula residents traveling south.

ANSWER TO THE WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

The gentleman whose picture appears on Page 4 of this issue is, as plenty of people should know, Mr. James C. Doud of Carmel, who recently was appointed Community Chest chairman for the Carmel business district drive.

The son of Mrs. Thomas Doud of Monterey and the late Mr. Doud, he was born May 17, 1902, in Monterey, where his grandfather had settled in 1848. His father, a cattleman and rancher, was also born there in 1854. His mother is a native of Canada.

Jimmy Doud attended elementary and high school in Monterey. The first three years of his college education were spent at the University of Santa Clara, but for his senior year he transferred to Stanford and was graduated with the class of 1927, with a major in geology.

In August, 1927, he and Miss Frances Allen Gassell of Carmel were married. They have three children -- Louise (Mrs. Robert Warren of New York), Peggy (Mrs. Shreve Archer of St. Paul), and Tolson, who recently married Miss Beverly Dowgiallo of Carmel.

Jimmy is now associated with the Carmel Realty Company, and is also a part owner and director of the Carmel Savings and Loan Association, which he and Barney Segal founded in 1940. His real estate activities, in which he is associated with Corum Jackson, include the opening of two local subdivisions -- Rancho Rio Vista, a 400-acre tract near the entrance to Carmel Valley, and the Mission Tract, which consists of 85 sites on the ocean front at the south side of Carmel.

He is also agent for his father's estate, which includes Rancho San Jose Y Sur Chiquito on the Coast Highway south of Carmel, Rancho San Bernabe (1 and 2) at King City, Rancho San Vicente at Gonzales and Rancho Los Coches at Soledad. Cattle are raised on the ranches, as are farm crops such as beans, barley, sugar beets, spinach, lettuce, and others. Jimmy spends one day a week tending to his cattle interests, another to farming interests, and the remainder to real estate activities. He does a lot of traveling around from ranch to ranch, but for a man who has been twice around the world (in 1926 and 1927), King City or Gonzales should be pretty short hops.

Banfields Celebrate 35th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Banfield recently celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary with a reception in their newly remodeled and redecorated Carmel Highlands home.

The Banfields were married in Pipestone, Minnesota, September 2, 1915. At the anniversary reception they wore their original wedding attire.

Mr. and Mrs. Franz Molnar were house guests of the Banfields for the weekend of the festivities. The Molnars, who were married in Hungary, had celebrated their anniversary the preceding Friday. Mr. Molnar is first violinist in the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.
